The men appointed as officers of the election by the city commissioners, who are registered by law, serve also as registration officers, will please take notice that a severe penalty is attached for non-performance of duty as registration officers.

You can register at the following places in your respective Wards and precincts:

The Republicans of the Nineteenth Judicial District, composed of the counties of Mason, Fleming, Lewis, Greenup and Bracken, will meet in convention at Mayville, Ky., on Tuesday, October 16, 1862, at 10 o'clock p.m., for the purpose of nominating candidates for Circuit Judge and Commonwealth Attorney for said Judicial District.

The representation from the various counties to said Convention shall be based upon the number of votes cast in the said counties in 1860, each county being entitled to one delegate for every one hundred votes or fraction over fifty thereof cast at said election. Said counties will govern themselves accordingly in selecting delegates to said Convention.

It was agreed in the County Convention held in the city of Lexington, that the delegates appointed to the Antislavery Convention should also be considered delegates to the Judicial Convention, and that they will act as such.

A resolution was also offered and passed at said County Convention, instructing the delegates to the Judicial Convention to vote for the nomination of M. J. Cochran as the Republican candidate for Circuit Judge.

PACING RECORD.

Mascotte Paces a Mile at Terre Haute in 2:04.

A Parallel for Nancy Hank's Great Feat of the Day Before.

All Records Knocked Into a Cocked Hat—Another Big Boom for the Terra Haute Track—How Came Again and Won Out.

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., Sept. 23.—As Nancy Hank's record of the world's trotting record again in the dust before her Wednesday, so did Mascotte similarly break the world's pacing record Thursday by making a new pacing figure to the admiration of the track. Nancy Hank's wonderful performance Wednesday, 11, occurred in the first heat of the great free-for-all pace, when the great triumvirate Flying Jib, Guy and Mascotte came out to do battle for supremacy. Star handler Jib, McHenry was on the pace, and the two others followed. Star and Andrews drove Mascotte. What a trio, both of drivers were raised in the state of New York as the result of the McKinley bill's operations in 1891.

This is the report of a Democratic official, originally appointed as Chief of the Bureau of Labor by Grover Cleveland, continued in that office by David B. Hill and recently appointed by Rossell P. Flower—all Democrats.

PERHAPS the most interesting chapter in the Democratic campaign handbook just issued is the one contributed—or edited—by ex-Secretary CHARLES FAIRCHILD on "The Ideal Banks." The Democratic National Committee knew that section 8 of the Democratic platform was a most delicate subject, which required very careful handling in order to make it presentable, says The New York Press. The business men of the country generally are perfectly aware of the evils that resulted from the old system of state banks, and are perfectly familiar with the immense benefits of the National banking system. Since section 8 of the Democratic platform demands the repeal of the 10 per cent tax on state bank notes, it is proposed to be committed to the return to the old system of "valid" currency that prevailed forty years ago. Something had to be said in the campaign book about this plank, and therefore Mr. Cleveland's ex-Secretary of the Treasury was called upon to say it.

Mr. FAIRCHILD handles the offensive section with gloves, as it were, and by the aid of a pair of tongs. He acknowledges that the National banking system has answered all the expectations of its creators. He readily concedes that a large demand for Government securities was created; that the currency has been uniform; that the losses from discounts and exchanges have been light; that the system was a great assistance in the struggle for the Union; that depositors have lost little and that note holders have lost nothing. These "concessions" are highly important. No sane man could ever concede anything of the kind in favor of the old state bank system.

Mr. FAIRCHILD declares, however, that the National banking system must come to an end, anyhow, when the United States bonds mature. It has apparently not occurred to him that there is any statesmanship capable of devising a way of retaining its benefits even after the bonds have matured. This may be because he knows there is no such statesmanship in the Democratic party.

The ex-Secretary does not discuss at length the perils of the old state banking system. He does not tell every bank its rate of discount for the bills of every other bank; how many that was good, in one case was worthless in another; how public confidence was almost unknown, and how a tremendous financial crash came in 1857 as a result of this "wildcat" system and of a reduction of the Tariff to a low revenue basis. What he does say is entirely theoretical. He thinks the establishment of state bank issues would be "in accord with the spirit of our institutions," and they would give us a "more elastic" currency, expanding every year when the crops were to be moved. The Democratic wildcat money proposed would be "elastic." Indeed, it would be elastic in value as well as in volume—worth its face value one day, 90 per cent. the next, and perhaps nothing at all in three months.

We cannot wonder at the lame defense the ex-Secretary has made of a policy which he knows would be disastrous to the business interests of the whole country, and especially of the great industrial metropolis. It is part of his official creed this year, however, and he had to try to defend it. The very fact that such a man as Mr. FAIRCHILD is compelled to proclaim his allegiance to such a wild financial theory shows how imminent the danger is, if the Democratic party should succeed in the immediate abolition of the banking system and of a return to the monetary chaos of the fifties.

GOOD TIDINGS.

A Chicago Physician's Successful Treatment in St. Petersburg.

His Method is Simply Cleansing Out the System of a Cholera Patient.

In short, His Marvelous Works Get the Deadly Staff From the Internes by Means of Common Soap and Water and by Irrigation.

CINCINNATI, Sept. 30.—A special from Berlin by the Bennett-Mackay cable to the Commercial Gazette says: I have just interviewed Dr Elmer Lee, of Cincinnati, whose successful treatment of cholera at St. Petersburg has attracted some attention. In speaking of enthusiastic terms of the kindness he met with in Russia, and traits, perhaps, rather optimistically, that will find similar courtesy in Hamburg when he reaches the city, to complete his experiments.

"Mr. Lee," is based on physiological experience and common sense. I simply apply to my patients the cleansing system which Koch and other scientific men would call rational. By irrigation I removed the cholera poison with out weakening the patient. I keep him well nourished meanwhile to sustain strength. In twenty-four hours I have had sufficient to me; I have been able to report cases. To convince myself scientifically of the value of my method I should like to experiment on at least one hundred more cases. I believe in the right track. As we have the disease here it is not the effect of Asiatic cholera?"

"I have not been able to convince myself on that point yet," said Dr. Lee, "but I am inclined to believe it." Necky, professor of bacteriology at the Imperial institute in St. Petersburg, and other Russian authorities.

"Do you believe in the efficacy of anti-cholera inoculation?"

"I think it is good to speak too positively," was the reply, "but I am inclined to believe it."

"Will you kindly put your reasons into writing?"

"Certainly," said Dr. Lee, "writing the action to the world. In the first place, you can't eradicate the cause of cholera by inoculation. You can not close the mouth, through which they enter. Consequently you can not keep them out of the stomach. In the next place, the poison is once in the intestine. Then I may remark that Dr. Lee seems to look upon cholera as a kind of palsy it becomes subject to the same laws as other maladies, and will be abated. When it is abated there is no fever, and the result is blood poisoning. It is unreasonable to suppose that inoculation can materially influence the normal laws of physiology. The theory of inoculation against cholera is opposed to physiology."

Dr. Lee did not explain how irrigation could cure pronounced palsey.

"From what you say, I suppose you conclude that inoculation being useless, an inoculated person who exposes himself to cholera, for example, drinks infected water, tones up dirty clothes, etc., is in peril."

"Not necessarily. It depends on the stomach."

"How do you suppose cholera is transmitted?"

"I don't know," said Dr. Lee.

Suicide in Church.

CURE FOR CHOLERA

The Cause of the Disease Proved to be a Micro-Organism—The Cure Supplied by the Medical Society of this city by Dr. David D. Stewart, clinical lecturer on medicine in the Jefferson Medical College, the importance of which can hardly be overestimated, of the doctor and the results of laboratory experiments are substantiated by experiment on man, and it would appear from the facts advanced that these observations are likely to be real. The germ of cholera has been proved to be a microorganism, the comma spirillum of Koch. The germ has its seat in the lower part of the small bowel. Any remedy that has a prompt local effect on this germ will have a powerful effect on the entire body, there to exert its effect, would probably invariably cure cholera if used in time. Various drugs have been suggested as possible, but none have been found to have these qualities. From several years' favorable experience with hydro-naphthalic, a benzene derivative, in bacterial intestinal affections, Dr. Stewart concluded that it might answer the purpose of a full recovery in cholera, a full recovery in cholera conditions. It was powerful, harmless even in very large doses, and moreover, was related to carbolic acid, to which cholera germs are especially susceptible.

A SHARK

In the Ohio River Near Jeffersonville, Ind.—Attempts to capture it.

JEFFERSONVILLE, Ind., Sept. 30.—A fresh water shark, about twelve feet long, was captured by a fisherman in this harbor Friday. For several days the fish, which is estimated to be fifteen feet in length and weighing 400 pounds, has destroyed great numbers of perch, buffalo and channel cat caught on trot lines.

The shark slipped a two-pound perch which had been caught on one of the hooks of a trot line opposite the city, and devoured one-half the fish at one swallow.

HANNOVER, Sept. 30.—Stanhope's mission is complete. He left quarantine and Eppendorf Krankenhaus Wednesday morning after a long and thorough course of instruction, and with the following certificate: "Stanhope, who from September 19 to 23 served as a voluntary sick nurse in the Neues Almelingen Krankenhaus, leaves the institution to-day after his clothes have been disinfected and he had been vaccinated. He is fit for duty in quarantine. He must be considered as perfectly healthy."

THE LION HOT AFTER THE BEAR.

His purpose is to relieve the sealers who are held by Russian men-of-war, and who, though released on the Siberian shores, are it is feared, in a destitute condition. The dispatch reads: "The Lord Hochschild already possesses full information from the British side respecting the seances and is now awaiting Russia's version."

Williams' Demands Excessive.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30.—Postmaster-General Wanamaker decided to banish what will be known as the Columbian series of postage stamps, under a contract signed Thursday. The new stamp will be of the same height and width as the present one, but the increased size being thought necessary in order to properly display the illustrations. These are intended to commemorate the discovery of America by Columbus. It is expected that entire series will be put on sale Jan. 1, 1863, and during the succeeding year will entirely supersede the present series.

Running Dead.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Sept. 30.—Running dead, a Cossack, was the first plowman you ever saw, the cause of death of cholera, by inoculation. You can not close the mouth, through which they enter. Consequently you can not keep them out of the stomach. In the next place, the poison is once in the intestine. Then I may remark that Dr. Lee seems to look upon cholera as a kind of palsy it becomes subject to the same laws as other maladies, and will be abated. KENTUCKY WEATHER REPORT.

What We May Expect Between This Time and To-Morrow Evening.

THE LEADER'S WEATHER SIGNALS.

17th streamer—Faded Blue—Rate of snow: with blue above—will warm to brown.
It looks like rain—Colder will be.
Under blue & white—Be change we'll see.

The above forecasts are made for a period of time, ending at 5 o'clock tomorrow evening.

Russia has still many old and curious marriage customs which would be interesting to the Mono cult. One is for the bride and bridegroom to race naked across the floor. Another is that the bridal procession enters the church, because of the belief that whoever places a foot first on the cloth in front of the altar will be master in the household.

Virginia has a lot of a hard case. If he permits his office or lobby to become offensive with cigarette smoke, ladies complain of the nuisance. If he has a few white dudes fined for smoking the ladies are apt to be annoyed.

Then if he has a few colored dudes fined, there is another howl that they can't read and don't know what they are doing. What the advertising says is not necessary, unless what you advertise for. We wish the advertising to feel that they are not impinging on us by using our free columns.
